ANDREW WATERMAN

Andrew started work for Penfolds at Magill with Max Schubert for one year, then moved to the Nuriootpa winery of Penfolds and working in brandy distillation, cooperage and laboratory work. He then moved to Orlando at Rowland Flat gaining knowledge in wine making and viticulture. During this period, Andrew helped setup the Steingarten vineyard. Returning to city life, Andrew was involved in the family wine store for 10 years before heading to France to work with Bordeaux wine suppliers, Nath. Johnston et Fils.

In 1982 he bought the King William Street Wine store from his father where he stayed 10 years.

During that time he worked as a judge at the Adelaide Wine Show for three years, was an inaugural member of the Australian Wine & Brandy Corp Export Analysis Panel, and remained on the tasting panel until closing in 2012.

On a friend's behalf, he ran the Drive In Bottle shop at the Highway Inn, building the business over a six year period by 100% prior to its sale. Andrew went on to manage a highly successful retail liquor store in Prospect for 6 years.

Andrew now works with Adelaide Central Market Tours, as Manager of Wine and Food Tourism Experiences.
